The following statutory leave types run concurrently with GitLab time away policies (PTO, Sick Time, etc.). A team member's entitlement to any statutory leaves of absence is governed by the legislation applicable in the province in which the employee works for the Company. Statutory leaves of absence will be tracked separately. Any additional paid or unpaid leaves provided by GitLab, are inclusive of, and not in addition to, any concurrent paid or unpaid leaves provided by the applicable employment standards legislation.

To initiate leave, and ensure that statutory entitlements are properly tracked, team members should contact the Absence Management team leaves@domain.com and then submit the time off request by selecting the appropriate option in Workday. If you do not feel comfortable submitting your time away in Workday, the Absence Management team can enter your time off in Workday on your behalf.

More information can be found on the Government of Manitoba website.

Long Term Disability Leave - Continuance of Coverage

It is the policy of GitLab Canada Corp. to provide continuity of coverage under the group insurance plan for individuals who are disabled. The period of coverage extends for 24 months following the date of total disability. Premium payment conditions will remain the same as are in place for active employees. Following 24 months from the date of your total disability, your benefits under the plan will cease and terminate. Conversion products are available. You may contact either our existing insurer directly, or our brokers at SC Insurance (info@scinsurance.ca) to learn more about your options and discuss these conversion products.

If at any time you are no longer deemed to be totally disabled, your benefits may terminate on that day unless you have returned to work on a full time basis.

Introduction

GitLab has generated this handbook page to provide resources to team members relating to Financial Wellness. Please note that GitLab is not able to directly provide team members with any financial advice.

If you have any great resources that you have used in the past, please feel free to create a merge request to add to this page as everyone can contribute!

Financial Wellness Resources

Modern Health

Modern Health offers many self service resources to team members as part of the Employee Assistance benefit through GitLab.

Some of these resources include:

- Ability to add a Financial Coach to your care team.
- Digital program through the app titled Financial Well-being.
- Modern Health Money Management Circle: GitLab hosted a Money Management Circle through Modern Health with an emphasis on the psychological component of Financial Wellness. Link to Recording
 - Session Description: What does "wealth" mean to you? Understanding the psychology of money and wealth can help you achieve your financial goals. Join this session with a Modern Health provider to learn how to assess your financial situation and identify your financial values and self-identity.

SageView

GitLab offers all team members the ability to use the Financial Wellness Program through SageView. This program includes:

- 1:1 sessions for all GitLab team members globally to connect with a dedicated Wellness Specialist to discuss topics such as Investment Assets (including Stock Options), Asset Protection, Income Protection, Debt Management, and Estate Planning.
 - The main goal here is the commitment to help understanding how the GitLab equity plan works, and providing resources in what team members can consider in financial management.

SageView won't provide tax, legal, or financial advice, but can help you to understand the pieces of information you will need to seek personal advice on to manage your own personal situation.

- Access to Sage411 for general questions and investment support.
- Access to SageView's communications
- Financial Wellness Workshops hosted by SageView

Please see the following flyer for more information and a link to schedule a consultation.

GitLab hosted a kickoff call with SageView to discuss an overview of the program's benefit offerings for team members.

- Recording: Presentation (Option 1), AMA (Option 2)
- Session Description:
 - The specifics of Financial Wellness are different for everyone, but the common underlying theme is similar for most; identify your resources and utilize your opportunities in a way that gives you both peace of mind and the highest likelihood of achieving your financial goals.

Schwab

Within Schwab, as of no later than December 9th, you will see a summary of your options (vested and unvested) and vested exercised shares. Exercised unvested options will be held at Computershare. When RSUs are granted, these will also be visible in Schwab.

Schwab can also assist with investment support as a complimentary service through GitLab.

Resources Available within Schwab:

- Award Calculators: The following award calculators are available to account holders to hypothetically model different option and share scenarios.
 - Raise cash: How many shares would I need to sell, or options to exercise and sell, to raise a specific dollar amount?
 - Get shares: How much would it cost to exercise a stock option and hold the shares?
 - Estimate the proceeds from a potential sale: How much cash could I receive from selling shares or exercising and selling stock options?
 - Raise cash and get shares: How many shares would I need to sell to pay for a stock option exercise and hold, plus raise additional cash?
- Schwab also has a calculator library for modeling many other types of financial goals.
- Schwab Insights - Examples of Available Modules include:
 - How to Invest
 - Investing Basics
 - How to Start Investing on Your Own
 - How to Invest 1,000, 10,000 or 100,000.
 - There is also a full Library of content relating
- Schwab Learning Center with specific content related to:
 - Stocks: Develop a better understanding of the benefits and risks of stock ownership and how it may fit in your trading and investing plans.
 - Options: Take a closer look at options trading and different ways to build a strategy.

Total Rewards and Financial Wellness for Managers

An important component of the Total Rewards Package is Equity Compensation. Team Members can review their equity holdings in Schwab. Please note that vested and exercised shares are currently being held in Computershare. The Stock Admin team will be providing additional information on these shares.

In order for managers to understand the full picture of their team members' total rewards package, the People Group has generated a Total Rewards Summary for managers to view vested and unvested holdings as of October 14, 2021 for each direct report.

Total Rewards Summary

The Total Rewards Summary will be available to managers of team members who have been granted equity on or before 2021-09-03. All RSU grants will not be shown on these summaries as the next grant date for RSUs to be reviewed and approved is 2021-12-15.

- Log into Workday through your Okta dashboard.
- Navigate to the profile of one of your direct reports. Select the Documents tab and expand the Annual Compensation Review Total Rewards Statements folder.
- You can either select the linked document name to open a quick view of the Total Rewards Summary in Workday or select the download button that appears to the right of the letter. If you are a manager and are unable to see the Documents tab for your team member, please reach out to total-rewards@ gitlab and we will review your access level.
- Total Rewards Summary example
 - Each summary will have a Cash Compensation section outlining the current (FY22) compensation as of November 1st.
 - For team members who are paid a base salary only, the Target Bonus (Variable) column will show Not Applicable.
 - Each summary will also have a section for Equity Compensation. The table will show the amount and value of vested and unvested shares held by the team member as of 2021-10-14 with the conversion price detailed on the statement.
- Team Members have access to their own equity holdings, so it's not required to share the Total Rewards Summary with team members, unless it is useful in facilitating a conversation. To share the letter directly with the team member, select the gear button to the right of the letter, select "Share with Employee", and, in the pop up prompt, select "Share" again.

Manager Talking Points

The Total Rewards Summary has been generated for management to visualize and understand the total holdings of their direct reports. There is not a specific timeline for managers to have a conversation around Total Rewards with their direct reports, but we want to ensure managers are enabled to have a conversation as equity is likely top of mind for team members. When going into the conversation we recommend to consider the following points:

- It's important for all team members to understand and consider all components of the Total Rewards Package. One key component being the value of our equity program (Options, RSU's & ESPP) as core to our Total Rewards (benefits, cash compensation, equity) at GitLab.
- Equity aligns team members with a long term incentive for the company. By delivering results, GitLab has the ability to contribute to company performance and drive long-term potential value.

- Team members may be eligible for Equity Compensation as part of their new hire package or the annual refresh program.
- GitLab has recently adjusted the cliff for the RSU program by implementing an industry leading six month cliff for new hire grants and no cliff for promotion or refresh grants.
- Close by checking in on how your team member is doing beyond their financial position. A quick and simple method is to use the "red, yellow, green" scale to ask your team members how they are feeling about their future at GitLab. The goal is to gain actionable feedback about how you can support them going forward.
- Please note that Total Rewards will be discussed again in February as part of Annual Compensation Review. This is a great opportunity to check in with your direct reports ahead of the planning process, but it is important to not make any forward looking statements on increases during the review cycle.
- Remember, financial incentives are only one aspect of what keeps our team members excited about their role at GitLab. Career opportunity and ability to make meaningful contributions were highlighted as the 2 highest areas of impact for our team members during our last Engagement Survey. Take this opportunity to have a holistic conversation about your team members' future at GitLab in terms of their career and financial growth opportunity. Remember, we're only at Mile 3 of the marathon.

Medical

- GitLab offers Supplementary Medical insurance through AXA Health Insurance which covers 100% of team member contributions and 66% for spouse & kids of premiums for medical, vision, dental and maternity coverage.
- For specific information on how your benefits operate, please read the following documents:
 - Policy detail-1
 - Policy detail-2
 - Enrollment process
 - Unilateral Employer Decision Medical Document for Cost Sharing, Scheme Conditions & Waiver Voucher information

Enrollment

New team members should expect an email from no-reply@axa.fr with instructions on how to enroll in to the Medical Scheme. Team members should expect this email within their first two weeks from their hire date. Please be sure to action upon the email to complete your enrollment in to the Medical Plan.

Pension

GitLab does not plan to offer pension benefit at this time as team members registered to the France's Social Security Program are also registered with the National Pension Scheme.

Life Insurance and Disability

GitLab offers company paid Group Life and Disability Plans through Generali effective 1 January 2025. This covers Life Insurance, Accidental Death & Accidental Dismemberment, Short Term Disability and Long Term Disability.

Team Members can designate their beneficiaries in the case of death with Generali here. You'll find step-by-step instructions in both French and English. You will need the scheme/contract number to update your beneficiaries, which can be found here.

For more details on the plan see these policy documents

France Holiday Bonus

Eligible France Team Members will receive an Holiday Bonus annually. The Holiday Bonus is paid once a year during the June Payroll.

The bonus is 1% of Total Gross Compensation that was paid through the prior 12 month period (June 1st to May 31st). Variable compensation such as bonus, commission, and overtime are included in the total compensation calculation.

The Holiday Bonus is taxable, and subject to social charges and income tax. Team Members must be employed in the month of June to receive the annual bonus.

GitLab France S.A.S. Parental Leave

Statutory Parental Leave

Maternity Leave: Team members are entitled to

- 16 weeks maternity leave for first child and second child (6 weeks before and 10 weeks after birth)
- 26 weeks maternity leave for third child (8 weeks before and 18 weeks after birth)
- 34 weeks maternity leave for twins (12 weeks before and 22 weeks after birth)
- 46 weeks maternity leave in case of triplets or more (24 weeks before and 22 weeks after birth)

Paternity Leave: Team members are entitled to 28 days of paternity leave and 35 days in case of multiple births (twins, triplets, etc.). Team members are eligible for paternity and childcare leave after the birth of your child or that of your spouse, common-law partner or PACS partner.

- This consists of the following:
 - Three days of mandatory leave to begin, at the team member's choice, on the date of birth or the first working day following the date of birth.
 - Four days mandatory leave immediately following the initial 3-day birth leave.
 - A final period of 21 days. The team member may choose to split this period into two parts of at least five days.

Maternity Leave Payment

- Eligible team members may apply for maternity allowance through social security. Statutory maternity leave runs concurrently with GitLab Parental Leave. If you are eligible for GitLab Parental Leave and you receive a maternity leave allowance, GitLab will supplement your pay so that you receive 100% of your salary for the first 16 weeks of leave.

Paternity Leave Payment

- Team members are entitled to be paid by their employer for the first 3 days of paternity leave. Eligible team members may apply for paternity benefits through social security. Statutory paternity leave runs concurrently with GitLab Parental Leave. If you are eligible for GitLab Parental Leave and you receive a paternity leave allowance, GitLab will supplement your pay so that you receive 100% of your salary for the first 16 weeks of leave.

Applying for Parental Leave in France

To initiate your parental leave, submit your time off by selecting Parental Leave in Workday at least 30 days before your leave starts. Please familiarize yourself with GitLab's Parental Leave policy.

GitLab France S.A.S. Paid Time Off (Vacation)

- GitLab France S.A.S. team members can review statutory requirements for paid time off in relation to vacation.
- GitLab France S.A.S. team members should be aware of their applicable leave categories and can review the requirements for logging time away from work and the suggested order for using leave balances. (internally accessible only)
- Team members must always submit their leave via the Mihi Platform as well as Workday in Slack.

For all technical support inquiries or any inquiries relating to your balances in Mihi, please contact support@mihi.info and cc gitlabHRSS@globalupside.com.

- GitLab team members are also entitled to RTT time and we recognize this is different from PTO. Team members are responsible for ensuring that they are tracking their time accurately, both in Mihi and in Workday. When entering RTT time, team members should select the RTT time off type in Mihi, and PTO in Workday leaving a comment noting 'RTT'.

Sick Time

Team members in France are eligible for up to 6 months of sick leave if on the day they stop working they meet the following conditions:

- having worked for at least 150 hours over the 3 calendar months or 90 days before stopping work;

or

- having received a salary totalling at least 1,015 times the amount of the hourly Smic over the 6 calendar months before stopping work.

After the 6th month of sick leave team members have to satisfy the following conditions:

- on the date that work was stopped, prove 12 months payments into the sickness benefits scheme;
- and have worked for at least 600 hours during the 12 calendar months or the 365 days before the date of stopping work;

- or have received an income totalling at least 2,030 times the hourly Smic over the 12 calendar months (or 365 days) prior to stopping work.

Sick Leave Pay

The daily allowance is equal to 50% of the daily basic wage. The gross reference wage is limited to ·3,076.70 gross per month. Therefore, the daily allowance paid cannot exceed ·50.58 (check sick time policies and procedures in France webpage for latest up-to-date information).

GitLab's Sick Time policy will run concurrently with this benefit for the first 25 working days, "topping up" the team members salary to 100%. After that, the sick leave will become unpaid by GitLab.

Reporting Requirements

Team members who fall ill are required to inform GitLab as soon as possible (but no later than 48 hrs) by selecting Out Sick in Workday AND entering the time away into the Mihi platform. You must provide proof by sending the Absence Management Team (leaves@gitlab.com) the sheet no. 3 of the medical sheet drawn up by your physician specifying the dates and reasons for being unable to work. Sheet no. 1 & 2 should be sent to your social security organization.

If an extension is needed, team members must notify GitLab as soon as possible (but no later than 48hrs) and send an updated sheet no. 3.

For more information, read about the sick time policies and procedures in France.

Additional Leave Types

Family Care Leave

Team members in France are entitled to take up to 3 days of family care leave each year, or 5 days if the child is under 12 months old. These days are generally considered unpaid unless the team member is eligible for GitLab's Sick Time policy; which will run concurrently. If you would like to request Family Care Leave please contact the Absence Management Team (leaves@domain). Team members must include a medical certificate, regardless of the leave duration, along with their request.

Tracking Working Hours

- Team members located in France are required to track their working hours and time away from work in Mihi as applicable and the working time policies and processes at GitLab France are set out in detail here for our team members (accessible internally only).

Specific to Japan Based Team Members

Team members in Japan have the following statutory state benefits available: medical, pension, and unemployment.

GitLab does not plan on offering additional private medical or pension benefits at this time due to the government cover.

GitLab will continue to review budgetary availability with respect to adding supplementary benefits in Japan.

Medical

All the Japanese team members will be covered by a statutory benefit known as Social Insurance. This health insurance plan will be managed by the National Health Insurance Association (Zenkoku-Kenkohoken-Kyokai or in short Kyokai Kenpo). For more information see the Leaflet section of the Kyokai Kenpo website.

Pension

Team members registered to the Social Insurance are also registered with the Employee Pension system. This system provides a pension to members who have worked in Japan at least 25 years from the age of 60 years old. Pension benefits depend from individual career so there is no standard payments.

Unemployment Insurance

- All the Japanese team members are entitled to the government's unemployment insurance system, known as koyou hoken (unemployment insurance). Koyou hoken, also known as shitsugyou hoken (unemployment benefit), is meant to help members, including foreign members, who have recently been unemployed.
- Members enrolling in unemployment insurance must be working at least 20 hours per week, and to expect to be employed for at least 31 days.
- Unemployment Insurance covers Unemployment benefits, Childcare Leave Allowance, Nursing Care Leave Allowance and Education/Training Allowance.

Annual Health Check Up

- Members covered by the Social general insurance system "Kyokai Kenpo" are entitled to a benefit of an annual health check up in any of the hospitals designated under "Kyokai Kenpo". The Japanese team members can also have a checkup in a non-designated institution.
- In both the cases the team members can expense up to 15000 JPY against the actual bills via Navan Expense.
 - The invoice must be uploaded to Navan Expense to validate the total reimbursable amount. Please do not upload any personal medical data, only the invoice with the total amount due. If you have any questions or concerns please reach out to Total Rewards.

GitLab GK Leave Policy

Sick Leave

- When a person is unable to work because of injury or sickness and GitLab provides no pay, team members are allowed to use their statutorily accrued vacation but are not required to. They are also eligible for Japan's government Health Insurance Scheme which provides 60% of the standard monthly remuneration (determined on the basis of the insured person's basic monthly salary/wage) as a sickness or injury benefit from the fourth day, for up to 18 months. Team members will need to apply for this here. Per GitLab's work rules, team members with less than 5 years of service are entitled to 3 months of job protected leave.

- Team members must designate any time off for illness as Out Sick in Workday to ensure that time off is properly tracked. In the event that a team member is out sick for greater than three consecutive calendar days, the team member must then follow the process with regard to Communicating Illness-Related Leave.

Annual/Vacation Leave

A team member who has been continuously employed for six months is entitled to a minimum of ten days' annual paid leave on the day after completing six months of employment. The entitlement increases by one day per year for the following two years and by two days per year thereafter, up to a maximum of 20 days per year. Annual paid leave runs concurrently with GitLab PTO. Team members must designate all vacation time taken as Paid Time Off in Workday to ensure that vacation entitlement is properly tracked. Unused annual paid leave expires after two years if not used. Team members are not entitled to payment for unused vacation time upon termination of employment.

Statutory Maternity Leave

The statutory entitlement for maternity leave is 14 weeks. The leave must start 6 weeks prior to the scheduled delivery date. During the entire period of maternity leave, when the team member is not paid from GitLab, the team member is entitled to 2/3 of her base salary from the government as maternity leave allowance, as listed below, which is covered by health insurance.

Statutory Parental Leave (Child Care Leave)

- Team members are entitled to unpaid leave until their child's first birthday (or second if certain conditions are met).
- Child care leave starts from the day after the maternity leave ends (i.e. 8 weeks after the birth date) or from the birth day of the child for fathers, to the day before the child reaches the age of 1.
- If both parents take child care leave, the end date of leave can be extended to when the child is 1 year and 2 months old, however, total duration of child care leave including post-birth maternity leave should be up to 1 year.
- During the entire period of child care leave, if the team member is not paid by GitLab, the team member is entitled to 2/3 of their base salary (with the cap of monthly JPY305,712) for the first 6 months and 50% (with the cap of monthly JPY228,150) after 7th month, which is covered by labor insurance.
- Fathers can take childcare leave twice: once during the postnatal period (8-week period directly following childbirth) and once during the remainder of the year following the postnatal period, up until the child turns one year old.
- Fixed-term team members must have been employed with GitLab for over a year to qualify for childcare leave.
- Additionally, the team member must return to work after childcare leave ends and continue to work for GitLab until at least two days before the child turns 2 years old in order to be entitled to childcare leave.

Maternity Leave Payment

- Team members may be eligible for maternity leave allowance equal to 2/3 of the team member's base salary for the duration of maternity leave. The allowance also covers the delay period if the actual date of birth is later than the expected due date.
- If the team member is a dependent under their spouse's health insurance, they will not be eligible for maternity leave allowance.
- If eligible, the team member may choose to take GitLab Parental Leave for the first 16 weeks of maternity leave. During this time, the team member will not be eligible for maternity leave allowance from the government. GitLab parental leave and government maternity leave allowance do not run concurrently.

Childcare Leave Payment

- Team members must have been enrolled in social insurance for at least one year in the past 2 years prior to applying for childcare leave in order to be eligible for childcare leave allowance.
- Social insurance will pay the team member 67% of their base salary for the first 6 months of Child Care Leave and 50% of their salary for the remainder of leave.
- If eligible, the team member may choose to take GitLab Parental Leave for the first 16 weeks. During this time, the team member will not be eligible for child care leave allowance from the government. GitLab Parental Leave and government child care leave allowance do not run concurrently.

Other Job-Protected Leave

Nursing Care Leave: Team members may be eligible to take up to 93 days of leave to provide nursing care to a family member. Team members who meet the conditions of nursing care leave may apply for an allowance.

Child Nursing Care Leave: : Team members who need time off to care for a sick or injured child are entitled to up to 5 days for 1 child or up to 10 days for 2 or more children. This leave runs concurrently with GitLab PTO.

Family Care Leave: Team members are entitled to 5 days of leave to look after a sick or injured family member, or up to 10 days for 2 or more family members. This leave runs concurrently with GitLab PTO.

Menstrual Leave: A female team member whose ability to attend work is significantly impeded by menstruation can request unpaid menstrual leave.

Time off To Exercise Civil Rights: A team member exercising their civil right such as voting or serving as a juror can request unpaid time off.

Medical

GitLab offers a private medical plan through VHI which gives you access to cutting-edge medical treatments, health screenings and protection against the high medical costs of private care. GitLab covers 100% of the premiums for team members and eligible dependents.

Please see the brochure to help guide you through the range of benefits and services available.

For a full breakdown of plan descriptions please review the Table of Benefits.

To find out which hospitals and treatment centers are covered on your plan, please refer to the directories of approved facilities which are available at Vhi.ie/downloads or contact VHI directly via the Corporate Advice Line: 056 777 5800.

Does Lifetime Community Rating (LCR) Apply?

From 1st of May 2015, if you are 35 or over when you first take out private health insurance, you will pay an additional amount of 2% for each year that you are aged 35 and over. Please contact VHI if you think this may apply.

Dependent Eligibility

Dependents eligible for the GitLab subsidy include Team Member's Spouse, Domestic Partner, and Children up to the age of 21 as long as they are still enrolled in school.

Domestic Partnership is defined as follows:

- Neither partner is currently married to anyone else nor currently has a different Domestic Partner.
- Partners have assumed mutual obligations for the welfare and support of each other.
- Partners reside together as a non-married cohabiting couple and share the common necessities of life.
- Partners are living together as a couple in the same household as each other's sole Domestic Partner and intend to do so indefinitely.

Enroll in the VHI Plan

GitLab's VHI scheme will renew November 1. You can choose to enroll from this date or from your hire date (if later than Nov 1st). Team members will need to enroll via VHI directly either through the Online portal or by calling VHI.

When enrolling please enter your GitLab Employee ID as your "Employee Number" and your GitLab Department listed in Workday as your "Cost Centre".

GitLab has selected PMI 4316 company wide. If you feel that this does not suit your needs (or family member needs), please call VHI on 0567775800 and they will discuss your requirements.

The policy may renew automatically at the end of each policy year. If renewed, notification will be sent to the team member by email.

Tax Implications of Medical Plans

The health insurance allowance is treated like any other income or allowance under Revenue Commissioners rules. Your normal tax rate including other statutory deductions will apply. You will be liable for Benefit in kind on your health insurance premium, for more information please read here.

Eye Exams

Team members in Ireland are entitled to regular eye and eyesight exams under the Safety, Health, and Welfare at Work Regulations 2007. GitLab will reimburse team members for the cost of the exams. If an eye exam determines that a team member needs glasses solely and exclusively for VDU (visual display unit i.e. computer screen) use, GitLab will reimburse towards the cost of a basic pair of frames and lenses (i.e. not designer frames) up to 140 Euro.

The team member needs to provide documentation (a prescription) from the optician that confirms if the lenses are specifically required for reading a display screen only and not required for general day to day use.

If you are enrolled in the VHI Medical plan, please submit any eligible claims through the plan first, any out of pocket cost not covered by the plan can be reimbursed up to the max amount in accordance to the Vision policy

Please submit your receipts via navan and prescription to Total Rewards.

Pension

GitLab offers a private pension plan via a defined contribution scheme. NFP Ireland (formerly Orca Financial) is an Irish owned Financial Services company to help with the administration of the pension on behalf of GitLab. The pension provider is Aviva. Aviva allows for transfers into the plan and can set up an AVC pension for any members that wish to contribute above the minimum required contribution.

NFP Ireland has put together the following video with information about the plan as a resource.

Pension Match

GitLab will match up to 5% of annual base salary of the team member's contributions. Team members may opt for a higher contribution but GitLab will only match up to 5%.

Enrollment

How to Enroll

1. Create a copy or download this Aviva Pension Form (do not enter your details directly on this form)
2. Complete the Form with your details
3. Email the completed form to employeebenefits@nfpireland.ie from your GitLab email address, and they will help enroll you into the plan

Please see the Pension Benefits FAQ for new joiners

How to make changes to Existing Contributions

1. Reach out to employeebenefits@nfpireland.ie with your updated contribution amount via your GitLab Email Address

Additional Enrollment Details, Questions and Assistance

Team Members that enroll after the 7th of the month will be enrolled the following month. After each pay cycle, Payroll will send Aviva (ccing NFP Ireland and Total Rewards) a spreadsheet with all contributions for Aviva to reconcile.

Team Members can also set up a session with NFP Ireland to walk through how pension benefit work or ask any questions about the pension plan. Please reach out to NFP Ireland Financial who will be able to assist you directly. Email: employeebenefits@nfpireland.ie Phone: +353 1 210 0210

You will be able to review the investment strategy once enrolled through the Fund centre on the Aviva website.

Please see the Leaver Benefit Summary for more details on how the pension plan is treated and your options when you leave the plan.

Death in Service

All full-time GitLab team members in Ireland are eligible for death in service at 4x base annual salary. Team members are automatically enrolled in this benefit. This benefit is administered through Aviva. Team members may be contacted to complete an additional questionnaire if their covered amount is over the scheme limits, with potential medical underwriting required. More information can be found on the Retirement and Death Benefit Scheme Rules document.

Team members can complete a Expression of Wish Form to request a beneficiary for this benefit. Once completed, please send directly to employeebenefits@nfpireland.ie

Disability

All full-time GitLab team members are eligible for disability cover in the amount of 66% of base salary less social welfare to age 65 (after 13 weeks deferred period). This benefit is administered through Aviva.

Please find the following documentation to assist you with the disability claim, and notify Total-Rewards@gitlab.com should you need to file a claim.

- Group Income Protection Claim Form
- Early Intervention and Claim Expertise Flyer
- Claims Services and Resources

Additional Benefits Through Aviva

- Best Doctors
- Up to 15% off Aviva general insurance products. To retrieve the discount, members should contact Aviva and quote the promocode on the discount flyer.
- Free travel insurance if you take our Car & Home together. Members can access this benefit via the Insurance Discount Flyer

Bike to Work/Tax Saver Commuter Scheme

GitLab uses TravelHub to assist with the administration of the bike to work/tax saver commuter scheme. The GitLab specific online portal can be found at GitLab Travel Hub. Team members will need to register and account to enter the GitLab specific online portal. Here is a link to TravelHub's FAQs about these programs.

From 2021, Cycle to work will have a maximum expenditure of 1250 EUR or 1500 EUR for an electric bike. The scheme may now be availed of once in 4 consecutive tax years, previously this was once every 5 years.

Bike Applications:

1. Once your account is created, select a Bike to Work Ltd partner shop.
1. Pick the new bike and accessories if required.
1. Upload the quote received from the bike shop to the TravelHub portal to have the order approved.
1. The Total Rewards team will receive an email with the request to login, review, and approve the application (credentials can be found in 1password). Please note that all payments should be made to TravelHub directly and not to the supplier chosen by staff. TravelHub will pay the supplier once the employee has received their Bike or Ticket.
1. Total Rewards will notify payroll to reduce the team member's gross salary by the cost of the bike using a Salary Sacrifice Agreement.

Ticket Applications:

1. Once your account is created, select a Travel Operator.
1. Select either a monthly or yearly ticket.
1. Submit the travel ticket to the TravelHub portal to have the order approved.
1. The Total Rewards team will receive an email with the request to login, review, and approve the application (credentials can be found in 1password).
1. Total Rewards will notify payroll to reduce the team member's gross salary by the cost of the ticket using a Salary Sacrifice Agreement.
1. Note: There is a 4% (plus VAT) booking fee for annual tickets and a 10 EUR (VAT inclusive) booking fee for monthly tickets paid for by the team member by being added to the price of the ticket.

Once the total rewards team has approved the bike or ticket application, an invoice is generated. Once payment has been received, TravelHub emails the team member a voucher to use in the bike shop or tickets are dispatched in to the team member.

GitLab Ireland LTD Leave Policy

Statutory Sick Leave

From 1 January 2023, team members in Ireland are entitled to 3 days of paid sick leave per year (increasing in subsequent years) under the relevant legislation. The new entitlement will be phased in as part of a 4-year plan, starting with 3 days Statutory Sick Pay (SSP) per year in 2023, increasing to a maximum of 10 days paid SSP over 4 years, as follows:

- 2023: 3 days
- 2024: 5 days
- 2025: 7 days
- 2026: 10 days

Ireland's statutory sick leave policy offers a floor level of protection and does not interfere with existing, more favorable, sick pay schemes such as GitLab's Sick Time policy. When allowed by law, GitLab's Sick Leave policy will run concurrently with this leave policy.

Statutory Sick Leave Pay Calculations

GitLab will be required to pay a minimum of 70% of an team member's gross wage, subject to a daily cap of €110, but will continue the team member's salary up to 100%. Team members must identify the absence as sickness-related (and comply with the notification requirements below) in order to receive the SSP.

- This daily cap is based on the 2019 average weekly earnings and equates to an annual salary of €40,889.16. It may be revised in the future in line with inflation and changing incomes.

Statutory Sick Leave Eligibility

- Worked for GitLab for more than 13 continuous weeks, and
- Must provide a medical certificate for consecutive absence exceeding 2 days.

Applying for Statutory Sick Leave

- If your absences exceed 2 consecutive days, please contact the Absence Management Team leaves@gitlab.com and include your medical certificate in the email.
- Team members must designate all time off for illness as Out Sick in Workday to ensure the Sick Leave is properly tracked.

Illness Benefit

Team members may also be eligible for Ireland's Illness Benefit. Please contact leaves@gitlab.com for more information.

Statutory Domestic Violence Leave

If a team member in Ireland has experienced, or is currently experiencing, domestic violence, they may take up to 5 days per 12 month period of paid domestic violence leave. Team members are not required to give notice in advance of taking this leave but should communicate that the leave has been taken and the relevant dates as soon as is reasonably possible by contacting the Absence Management Team at leaves@gitlab.com. The purpose of the leave is, among other things, to enable the team member to seek medical attention, to obtain counselling or other support services, to seek legal advice or to relocate. The leave can be taken as needed and does not need to be used consecutively.

Vacation Leave

- Team members are entitled to a maximum of four weeks of statutory vacation each year, which is calculated in accordance with the Organisation of Working Time Act of 1997. Part-time team members' entitlement is calculated on a pro-rata basis. Unused statutory vacation time may not be carried over into the following calendar year, other than under exceptional circumstances and with GitLab's prior written consent. GitLab does not provide pay in lieu of unused statutory vacation entitlement other than on termination of employment. If your employment terminates for any reason, you will receive pay for any accrued but unused statutory vacation entitlement. If your employment terminates, and at the date of termination you have exceeded your statutory vacation entitlement, the excess may be deducted from your final pay. Vacation leave runs concurrently with GitLab PTO. Team members must designate any vacation time taken as Paid Time Off in Workday to ensure that vacation entitlement is properly tracked.

Austria

- Contact: gxemployeeexperience@globalexpansion.com
- Platform Instruction Guide

All benefits listed below are administered and managed by Global Expansion

The Austrian Social Security Act General Social Insurance Act (Allgemeines Sozialversicherungsgesetz, ASVG) has employer and team member contributions to cover statutory requirements such as pension, health insurance, accident insurance and unemployment.

Medical

Austria can access the public Austrian health insurance system. This health insurance scheme covers all the team members and their family members.

Team members have the option to select GX's global medical insurance plan through AXA at their own cost via salary deduction.

Review the AXA Benefit guide.

- The AXA plan will be administered directly through GX.
- During the onboarding of a new hire, GX will collect the team member and eligible dependent's census for enrollment via the GX1 platform.
- GX will then email the cost of the medical insurance plan directly to the team member to confirm whether they would like to opt in or not.

- Once the plan is implemented, the team member will receive the documentation along with a digital pass via a secure link directly from AXA.
- For any addition or modification a team member can reach out to the GX team at: gxemployeeexperience@globalexpansion.com.

Pension

GitLab does not plan to offer pension benefits at this time as Austria has their uniform pension system through The Act on the Harmonisation of Austrian Pension Systems. The amount of a pension is calculated on the basis of the duration of the pension insurance and amount of the contributions paid. In order to receive the pension a team member must have paid contributions for at least 180 months (15 years).

Life Insurance

There is no plan to offer life insurance at this time as team members can access the benefits via the social security system which covers illness, injury & disability.

Bike Leasing Benefit

Global Expansion, through partnership with the local provider, is able to offer a bike leasing option to team members via BikeLeasing.AT.

Benefits of Bike Leasing

- Team members can lease bikes at a lower cost than purchasing, thanks to tax advantages and bulk pricing offered by leasing companies.
- Encourages team members to stay fit and healthy by cycling regularly, which can lead to better overall well-being and potentially reduce sick days.
- Promotes eco-friendly commuting, helping reduce a company's carbon footprint.
- The cost is deducted from the team member's salary, spread over a fixed period, making the bike more affordable.

Salary Deduction

The exact salary deduction depends on the terms of the lease agreement, but typically, a portion of the gross salary is deducted monthly. This could be calculated based on the bike's value over the leasing period (usually 36 months).

Tax Efficiency

Bike leasing is considered a tax-efficient measure in Austria. Since the salary deduction occurs pre-tax, it reduces the employee's taxable income, thus lowering their income tax liability.

Process if resignation is submitted

If you resign before the end of the leasing period, you will generally have a few options:

- Pay the Remaining Balance: You may be required to settle the outstanding lease payments (remaining balance) in a lump sum or through continued payments after resignation.

- Purchase the Bike: Buy the bike at the end of the lease or upon resignation by paying a predefined residual value.
- Transfer to a New Employer/Leasing Company: It may be possible to transfer the leasing contract to a new employer, but this depends on the policies of both the current leasing provider and the new company. So this would need to be clarified with bikeleasing.at directly.

If you would like to sign up for this benefit or have any questions regarding this, please reach out to the Global Expansion team via gxemployeeexperience@globalexpansion.com.

GX Leave policy

Annual leave (statutory)

Team members are entitled to 25 days in each year of work.

In the first six months of the first year of employment, the leave entitlement is calculated in proportion to the time worked. From the start of the seventh month, employees receive the full leave entitlement; from the second year of employment, the full leave entitlement accrues from the beginning of the working year.

Maternity leave

The statutory entitlement for maternity leave (Mutterschaftsurlaub) is 16 weeks. The leave must start 8 weeks prior to the scheduled delivery date.

- For high-risk births, leave after the birth can be extended to 12 weeks.

Parental leave (statutory)

Mothers and fathers are entitled to parental leave until the child reaches the age of 24 months (maximum), provided the parent in parental leave lives in the same household as the child. The minimum period of the parental leave is two months. The dismissal and termination protection ends four weeks after the end of the parental leave.

During the time of parental leave, and provided the conditions are satisfied, parents are entitled to childcare allowance (Kinderbetreuungsgeld) under the Child Care Payment Act from social security.

Applying for parental leave in Austria

Please familiarize yourself with GitLab's Parental Leave policy. You will need to submit your parental leave via Workday - Time Off at least 30 days before starting the leave.

Time-tracking

Time tracking is required in Austria with the exception of roles that are manager and above (Grade Level 8 or higher). Please refer to the process below:

1. Team members who are required to fill out a monthly timesheet must do so on a monthly basis using the timesheet template

2. Timesheets to be submitted to the local partner before the 8th of each month for the prior month
